Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 10 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Rain moving eastwards today. Drier and perhaps brighter later.

Today:
Largely cloudy and dry initially, with a few light showers. Then outbreaks of rain will spread east this morning, mainly across southern areas, clearing this afternoon. Slightly brighter conditions and isolated showers follow. Chance of coastal low cloud and mist. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Tonight:
Becoming generally dry as clear spells develop, also possibly some patchy low cloud and mist inland. Also the coast areas of low cloud and mist may persist. Minimum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Sunday:
After a dull start in places bright or sunny spells will develop through the day, but also isolated showers, these most likely for northern and western areas, and perhaps heavy. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Monday spells of rain or showers, both often heavy with a chance of thunder. Tuesday sunny spells and heavy showers, some with hail and thunder. Wednesday isolated showers, mainly dry.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.